Rotating Earthquake Food Stores

Here's one way to always have fresh food stores on hand without having to throw out the older food. Purchase canned foods with at least a 2-year expiration date. For example, purchase canned meats, vegetables, fruits, soups, stews, and canned juice which have expiration dates of 2014 or 2015. Buy enough to feed at least your family for over three days. Store these cans in a place which is still easy to get to if your house were to collapse or burn. Store a can opener with the cans. Store them for one year and then donate them to Second Harvest Food Bank at the Lucky on Mathilda around Thanksgiving time – the expiration dates will still be good. Around the same time, buy another batch of canned food and drinks with two-year expiration dates, store them again, and donate them a year later.

The publication of our newsletter and SNAIL Neighborhood Association sponsored activities are supported through our annual yard sale, newsletter advertisements, a grant from the City of Sunnyvale, coupon book sales, and donations.

Free Legal Assistance

Everyone will have legal questions at some point in their lives. You may have a ticket you don't agree with, or concerns about your rights at work. There may a dispute with a landlord, or a will or trust for you or a family member that you don't understand. Or, questions about divorce, custody, child support and other family law questions.

The Columbia Neighborhood Center (CNC) now has help for these and other legal questions. A new partnership with the South Asian Bar Association of Northern California (SABA-NC) provides free legal clinics the second Saturday of each month from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. at the CNC, 785 Morse Ave., Sunnyvale. No appointments are necessary at these first come, first served legal clinics. People are seen in the order that they arrive in the CNC lobby during clinic hours.

Volunteer attorneys provide free 20 – 30 minute legal consultations to answer questions on various legal matters. Examples: answer immigration questions, advice on foreclosures, debt collection and credit issues, small claims, fraud and consumer rights, Information on small business incorporation and other business related issues, etc.

SNAIL Neighborhood in 1950 and Eichler Homes

During the Centennial Celebration, I found a 1950 map of Sunnyvale at one of the exhibits. It's interesting to note that most of what we now refer to as "SNAIL" (the area bordered by Hwy. 101, Mathilda Ave., Maude Ave., and Fair Oaks Ave.) did not even have streets and was not even within Sunnyvale city limits. The primary residential streets were parts of Manzanita, Waite, Kirk, Arbor, Cypress, Duane, Bayview, Morse, and Maple.

"SNAIL" neighborhood, circa 1950

Regarding the Eichler homes in our neighborhood, a writer named David Weinstein for CA Modern magazine recently wrote in an email: "...Sunnyvale Manor Addition, a 51-home subdivision developed by Joe Eichler in 1950. It's a historic neighborhood as it is the first in which Eichler used architects to design the homes -- the notable firm Anshen & Allen. The neighborhood includes: W. Arbor Ave. (140, 160), Balsam (300 block), N. Bayview (545, 551), E. Arbor, Borregas (500 block odd), E. Duane (400 block odd), Maple (500 blk), Morse (500 block even). Several other streets may also be included."
